GROWTH & EXPANSION LEADS TO OFFICE RELOCATIONS FOR LAUFER GROUP INTERNATIONAL'S ATLANTA, CHICAGO & SEATTLE BRANCHES

New York, NY (December 2011) – Laufer Group International is pleased to announce the relocation and expansion of three US branch offices, a result of the company's growth in 2011. Laufer, which began the year adding to its US office network by opening new stations in Chicago, San Francisco and Norfolk, now brings the year to a close by moving its offices in Atlanta, Seattle and Chicago to more spacious facilities.

"Our successes this year have resulted in the need to move several of our offices to new locations. By expanding, we have added additional workspace to accommodate new personnel and to ensure our customers will continue to receive the level of service they expect from Laufer," says Mark Laufer, President.

The Seattle office, opened in 1987 and one of Laufer's most tenured branches, had been at its previous location for over 10 years. Branch Manager Cheryl DeLancey recognizes the value in relocating to a new facility. "The moves comes at the right time for us," she says, "As we continue to increase our visibility in various markets and bring on new customers, expansion of our team is necessary and our new office space will facilitate that growth."

Laufer's Atlanta station was formed in 2009 in response to the growing prospects in the transpacific trade and to continue providing customers with a complete and expansive coverage network. In April 2011, Laufer once again recognized the opportunity to expand its footprint in the Mid-west market, opening its full-service station in Chicago.
